

Emergency First Aid at Work (EFAW): Initial Course IS24

Duration of course: 1 Day

Maximum no. of Candidates: 8

Course aims:

The recently revised Health & Safety at Work (First Aid) Act 1981 requires employers to provide sufficient first aid cover in relation to the scale and scope of their operation and the risks associated with it.

Infrasafe can provide first aid training to enable you to meet your legal obligations.

Objectives:

We provide the 1 day Emergency First Aid at Work Course (EFAW) to meet Health & Safety Executive requirements. This course is taught utilising the internationally recognised ILCOR Emergency First Response course structure.

The course is instructor led with student participation in a relaxed manner to put candidates at ease and achieve the best results. Candidates receive the Emergency First Response Participant Manual prior to starting the course which gives them time to self study and be more confident about partaking in the course and completing through course assessing or the final instructor led written and practical assessments included in the course. This course requires continual assessment.
